U. S. Byme 'Strike Breaker' When Walkout Meant Tragedy

"If the government is going to step in as a strike-breaking agency," says the president of the Switchmen's Union of North America, "it's about time that the American people start thinking of what they are going to do to the American working man deprived of his bargaining weapon."

That is an imposing generality, but it doesn't square with reality. And it doesn't justify a railroad strike, as it apparently was meant to.

From the practical viewpoint, there is no such composite creature as "the American working man," any more than there is a similar one called "the American employer." Even in the restricted sense of the working man as a union member, the generality does not apply.

Union members have varying responsibilities, just as they have varying jobs and wages. It may not injure the public for the workers in a pottery factory or even an automobile factory to go on strike and stay out until they get what they want. It does in industry-wide bargaining, shut down all the coal mines or all the steel mills or all the railroads to enforce their demands.

In the case of the railroads, the government has entered the picture as what the switchmen's president chooses to call "a strike-breaking agency." It did so because, as President Truman rightly said, "the strike on our railroads would be a nationwide disaster, with worldwide repercussions," and because, as Justice Goldsborough said, such a strike would cause the country "to suffer irreparable injury for which it has no adequate remedy at law or in equity."

It should be pointed out that the owners of these basic industries and activities have the same responsibilities as their organized employees. They have no right, by industry-wide agreement, to shut down all the railroads or steel mills or coal mines.

We are sure that the threat of a railroad strike started the American people thinking, but not about what they were going to do for the American working man deprived of his bargaining weapon. We imagine that many of them were thinking how dangerous that weapon would be if it could not be silenced, in a crisis, by the government's "strike-breaking" power.

Even the "American working man" must have considered what a strike could mean—paralysis of the nation's commerce, tens of millions unemployed, severe damage to our foreign policy, shortages, skyrocketing prices and, if the strike lasted long enough, actual hardship and danger to health.

It may be theoretically wrong to limit the use of the "bargaining weapon" and to force the government into the artificial process of seizure. But the realities are still there. The government is still there. If present ways of preventing paralyzing strikes are bad, then good ways must be found. We don't know what they will be—a ban on industry-wide bargaining (which wouldn't halt a railroad tie-up), compulsory arbitration by settlements enforceable by law, or something not yet proposed.

There will be objections to any such solution. But so long as the workers in our basic industries are willing to gamble with the nation's health and welfare, let what they want, something must be done that is bland and effective. But if it turns out to be better, labor will have to realize that the present nation is the result of some unions' self-indulgence.

To Deport Communist Party Head

Washington, June 1—(AP)—The Justice Department today announced the arrest for deportation of Joseph P. Kamp, national director of the American Communist party.

The department said Stachel was picked up by immigration agents in front of his residence in New York City, this morning. He was removed to the Federal House of Detention and will be held pending deportation proceedings.

Stachel is accused of illegally entering this country and of joining a subversive organization after this entry.

The department said Stachel is a member of the Communist Party, National Committee, and of the Communist National Board as well as the party's education director. At one time he was on the editorial board of the Daily Worker.

Stachel is a native of Austria-Hungary, is 49 years old and first entered the United States in 1911, the department said. He is married and has one child.

The warrant against him says he last entered the United States at an unknown port in November, 1931, when he came in without the required immigration visa.

The department's announcement said the arrest was "in line with Attorney General C. C. Clark's policy to remove subversive agents from the United States."

The attorney general has caused the arrest for deportation of a dozen top figures in the Communist party in this country during the last several months.

22 Perish When Naval Launch Sinks

Norfolk, Va., June 1—(AP)—Twenty-two men—nine Marines and 13 navy men—perished in Hampton Roads last night when a Navy launch swamped in choppy waters while returning 90 men to their ship after Memorial Day liberty.

Rear Admiral C. A. F. Sprague, commander of a twelve ship task force whose sailing for the Mediterranean was delayed by the tragedy, issued this statement to newsmen at 9 a.m. today from his flagship, the Aircraft Carrier Kearsarge.

"Preliminary report of loss of life or missing personnel may be placed at 22, nine marines and 13 navy."

"Report considered accurate and includes best estimate of possible stragglers" (men absent over leave).

"Further checking now in progress."

The 50-foot open launch was swamped by a wind and rain storm at 8:45 p.m., as it was returning a liberty party to the Kearsarge, anchored two miles off the Norfolk naval station. The launch, which was attached to the carrier, was swamped when only 200 yards off the Kearsarge's port beam.

At 2 a.m. today all naval tugs and small craft that had been searching the area were withdrawn, leaving two coast guard ships to continue the search.

Sailing of the task force was delayed indefinitely after the accident and its ships were placed on four hour sailing notice.

The Kearsarge, with three cruisers, seven destroyers and a transport, was scheduled to sail at 5 a.m. today for the Mediterranean to relieve a similar force which has been on duty in the area since last winter.

Government Spending Short of Budget

Washington, June 1—(AP)—Government spending is falling short of White House estimates for the fiscal year now drawing to a close.

Fiscal experts said privately today that treasury outlays will run between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 below President Truman's Jan. 1947 forecast of $377,228,000,000.

The chief reason, they said, is that act spending for foreign aid has failed to hit expected levels partly because the European Recovery program got into operation behind schedule.

With only one month to go, ERP expenditures so far total under $500,000,000—less than one-tenth of the $5,000,000,000 of this year's budget allowance for the year ending June 30.

Under-spending on the scale now forecast assures an historic surplus of at least $2,000,000,000.

There even is a fair chance for a $7,500,000,000 surplus—Mr. Truman's January figure—despite the new tax cut which had been calculated officially to trim the excess cash to $6,000,000,000.

Some government analysts believe revenue will run $200,000,000 to $400,000,000 above the $4,610,000,000 figure which has stood as the official estimate since the tax cut knocked $800,000,000 off the higher January forecast.

Officially, however, the treasury is standing pat on the $44,610,000,000 revenue guess.

One thing that could take a big bite out of the June 30 surplus is a Republican proposal in Congress to shift $300,000,000 of this year's left-over cash to next year's books.

The purpose of the proposed shift—strictly a matter of rearranging bookkeeping entries—would be to bolster next year's budget prospects. Mr. Truman in January put the probable June 30, 1948, surplus at only $4,800,000,000. Since then there have been predictions that the tax cut bill might lead to a deficit on that date.

The under-spending on foreign aid this year goes beyond the lag in European recovery outlays.

The Greek-Turkish aid program is another which won't use up its current year budget allowance of $275,000,000. This appears likely to fall $100,000,000 short of estimates, largely because this program, too, was slow in getting started.

U. S. Asks Russia to Act on Giving Trieste to Italy

Washington, June 1—(AP)—The United States prodded Russia a third time today for a new reply to the American-British-French proposal to return the free territory of Trieste to Italy.

The State Department said in a note delivered to the Russian embassy that the problem requires a "very early resolution."

State Department Press Officer Michael McDermott told reporters he understood the British and French governments are sending similar notes to the Soviet government.

Russia never has rejected the principle of returning Trieste to Italy. But it has objected to the suggestion by the three western powers. The Soviets claim this would constitute a "private conference" which is unacceptable to Moscow.

Holiday Deaths Go Beyond the 400 Mark

By The Associated Press

More than 400 persons died violently during the nation's extended Memorial Day holiday.

Traffic accidents caused more than half of the fatalities.

Accident deaths reported from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Monday totaled 404—not including the unknown number dead in the Vanport, Ore., flood. The drowning of 22 navy and marine corps men lost when a launch, capsized in Hampton Roads, Va., was the largest known loss of life in a single accident.

An estimated 30,000,000 automobiles were on the country's highways during the three-day holiday period and more than 200 persons were killed in traffic mishaps. Of the 404 violent deaths, 204 died in motor accidents; 92 persons drowned, and 108 others lost their lives in accidents of miscellaneous nature—including plane crashes, fires, falls and other causes.

Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York, California, Ohio, Texas and Michigan counted the largest death tolls. Nevada, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Vermont and the District of Columbia did not report a single violent death.

Pennsylvania ranked first with a total of 33 dead including 14 traffic fatalities. Illinois was second with 26 followed by New York's 25 California's 24 Ohio's 20; Texas' 19 and Michigan's 18.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH), to whom the Far Eastern command-in-chief's reply to the committee invitation last week, said he expected no outright demand for the general's return.

"If anything should happen while I was away," Bridges said, "I certainly wouldn't want the responsibility of having him back here."

The committee had asked MacArthur to testify on conditions in Japan and other areas in the Far East.

The general, however, said any such journey in advance of the Republican National Convention opening June 21 at Philadelphia would be misunderstood as "politically inspired."

He offered to return to question him then.

Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, leader of a MacArthur-for-president movement, wired Bridges last night suggesting that the committee re-word its motion to change it from a "mere invitation" to a "formal committee request."

Wainwright said he thinks MacArthur would come home at a date that were done.

On the other side of the political fence, Georgia's 28 votes to the Democratic national convention lined up solidly against President Truman.

A state executive committee yesterday instructed the delegation to vote as a bloc, with no dissenters. While the anti-Truman stand was not put into a formal pledge, party leaders left no doubt that the state's votes will be cast for someone other than the president.

As for MacArthur's western swing starting Thursday night, GOP National Chairman Carroll Reece said in a statement last night that it will be "as non-political as the Pendergast machine."

Delegates picking ways in progress now sit out today in two states today. In South Dakota Republicans name 11 delegates and Democrats eight.

Alaska completes its 26-vote democratic delegation by choosing 11 in a run-off primary. Fifteen were picked last month.

Israel Accepts UN Appeal for Cease-Fire

Lake Success, June 1—(AP)—The state of Israel announced today it had accepted the United Nations appeal for a Palestine cease-fire.

A spokesman for Israel described the acceptance as unconditional. He said, however, the commitment from Tel Aviv contained a Jewish interpretation as to what Israel understood the cease-fire to mean.

The deadline for replies from the Jews and Arabs is 6 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, today. Arab League leaders were meeting at Amman, Trans-Jordan, to decide on their course.

The Israeli spokesman said: "Our acceptance is being communicated to the secretary-general of the United Nations as soon as possible. It is unconditional. It does contain our understanding of the terms of the cease-fire."

The cease-fire appeal was voted by the security council last Saturday.

New Danger in Flood Area; No Bodies Found

Portland Ore., June 1—(AP)—The Columbia river flood, which already had taken a toll of at least 20 lives and property loss of more than $37,000,000 forced mass evacuation today of a 120-mile section at the lower end of the stream.

The river has already caused the Northwest's greatest disaster as its crest approached the rich farmlands from the Portland area to the sea. Army engineers gave the warning to evacuate but said many of the thousands of residents already had fled.

The toll of dead will not be known until waters recede. No estimate of damage throughout the area was available but the Portland Housing Authority said damage to the crumpled warhousing city of Vanport was $27,000,000. The only other estimate was $10,000,000 damage in the Kelsa Woodland and Kalama district of south west Washington those were only two small areas affected.

Before the Vanport disaster, army engineers had predicted the Columbia and its tributaries would cause a total loss of $300,000,000. The engineers now won't make any kind of an estimate.

The river, which already had caused the Pacific Northwest's greatest disaster, threatened to flood hundreds of farms and many small cities in the area, nearly all of which is downstream from Portland.

Army engineers ordered the evacuation of the thousands of residents of the 43 drainage districts areas, but said many of them already had run for higher ground.

The Portland Housing Authority estimated at $27,000,000 the loss suffered by the war-housing city of Vanport, which was crumpled Sunday. That was the only flood loss estimate made by the federal engineers. They had predicted a loss of $300,000,000 to farms and houses, and the valuable topsoil being swept to sea.

Europe Must Pay Debts to U. S.—Snyder

Washington, June 1—(AP)—European countries must continue to pay their debts to the United States even though they are receiving aid in the European recovery program, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder said today.

Snyder told the senate appropriations committee it "would not be wise to declare a moratorium on debt."

Such a move, he said, "would impair the credit standing of these countries and so make it more difficult for them to secure finance from private sources now or in the future."

Snyder estimated that after 1952, Western European countries "should be able to operate their economies without extraordinary assistance from the United States."

Snyder went before the committee to ask an aid appropriation of $4,245,000,000. Congress already has appropriated $55,000,000 for European aid. The full program will call for expenditures estimated at $5,300,000,000.

Mr. Washburn, speaking on the governmental theme "Tomorrow's No Holiday," will explain the South's position on domestic policy to the northern Pennsylvania section where he grew up. He will visit his father, W. O. Washburn, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and return home the latter part of June.

Retired Minister, Uncle of Betty Davis, Dies

Laguna Beach, Calif., May 31 —(AP)—Rev. Paul Gordon Favour, 61, retired Episcopal minister and uncle of Actress Bette Davis died yesterday of a heart ailment.

Dr. Favour, born in Lowell, Mass., served for 24 years as rector of Trinity church at New Rochelle, N. Y., before coming to California in 1933. He came out of retirement here to serve for a while as pastor of a small Episcopal church at nearby San Clemente, Calif.

The clergyman served twice as international exchange preacher to England. He received his doctor of divinity degree at the University of Dublin.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at St. Mary's Episcopal church here.

He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Gail S. Favour; two sons, Paul Gordon Favour, Jr., of Shenandoah National Park, Va., and John W. Favour of Laguna Beach, and a daughter, Mrs. Harold A. Carmichael of Rutland, Vt. He was a brother of Bette Davis' mother, Mrs. Ruth Favour Davis of Laguna Beach.

This is what it's supposed to do: set up a single agency so the world's doctors, or their governments, can:

1. Exchange information for fighting disease.

2. Try to control epidemics and keep them from spreading.

3. Agree on a number of things so there'll be less confusion—like the names for diseases and the drugs for treating them.

The above three points are just a skeleton idea of the work it will try to do.

Last July the Senate approved our joining the organization.

Then yesterday, almost a year later, the House got around to giving its approval.

But the way they passed it differed a bit. So they'll have to work out an agreement.

Then President Truman can sign it and make us a member. It will probably cost us about $2,000,000 a year and your share of the expenses.

The health organization will be run by an executive board made up of representatives from the member nations.

Our representative—the president will appoint him—has to be a doctor with at least 10 years' practice in medicine.

What good do we get out of joining? The House Foreign Affairs committee listed some of these points:

1. By keeping down or preventing epidemics in other countries, the World Health Organization will make the U.S. that much safer from disease.

2. By checking more closely on people flying to the U. S. from other countries, the organization will cut down the amount of sickness and disease brought in here.

3. U.S. citizens traveling abroad will have better protection against disease.

4. Because better world standards will be set up for drugs and medical supplies, the U.S. companies which make them will have better markets abroad.

5. The U.S. not only will receive information about international health problems, but will be able to help solve them.

New Danger in charged, is at flood stage for 750 miles. The crest will reach the Portland area tonight or tomorrow.

Part of Portland's downtown area, including the Union station, was under water today after the Willamette river topped the seawall. The station is Portland's only railroad depot, and trains were unable to use it.

In north Portland, where more than 16,000 persons were left homeless in Sunday's Vapour disaster, the flooded area was tripled by the bursting of two more dikes. On top of these two dikes were the approaches to the Pacific highway, principal north-south route.

The breaking of these dikes left three square miles under water, with houses from Vapour pouring through both gaps. Some of them turned end-over-end, and all hope of salvaging these was lost.

No bodies have been recovered from Vapour. Some bodies might be swept so far they never would be found.

Army engineers are investigating the "blow out" of the railroad embankment which resulted in the Vapour disaster. The rail fill was constructed 40 years ago. Commenting on the fate of what once was Oregon's second largest city, the Portland Housing Authority announced the agency "feels terribly bad that lives possibly were lost, but all you can do is depend on the advice of competent engineers."

Survivors are scattered in thousands of homes throughout the city and in schools and churches. Most of the separated families are living together. But the Red Cross has not issued an estimate of the missing.

The major threats downstream from Portland were at Clatskanie, Rainier, Woodland, Kelso, Longview and Kalama. These areas, where much of the population is being moved out by army engineers, national guardsmen and civilian agencies, are like vast swamplands.

Vancouver City, Ore., June 1 —(UP)—The Columbia river today sent new torrents of floodwater through the muddy debris and splintered houses which hide the fate of those believed killed in the Vapour city disaster.

Authorities were mystified because not a single body had been found thus far in the wreckage of the nation's largest housing project.

Red Cross disaster workers said, however, it could be nothing short of miraculous if the flood, which smashed the city of 10,000 residents had failed to take a victim.

Reports were numerous of men, women and children swept away by the water or trapped in their homes. Hospitals took care of more than 100 injured persons but none was hurt critically.

Only Mabel Powell, 54, was definitely reported dead, but she succumbed to a heart attack en route to a hospital.

The search for bodies today was hampered by houses that bobbed in a topsy-turvy fashion against each other and by splintered debris floating over the watery grave of the city.

"We haven't located a single body yet," Sheriff Martin Pratt said. "There undoubtedly are many inside the houses, but we don't know. We're gradually reuniting families and the list of missing is dwindling. We don't know what to think."

He said it might be two weeks before the flood subsides enough to make a thorough check. A diver went into the debris late yesterday and made a cursory search of automobiles but found nothing.

Eyewitnesses maintained they had seen friends and families slipping back into the water. Their estimates of dead ran into the hundreds — all without confirmation.

One man saw a friend crushed between two houses. Another was certain that dozens failed to get out of lower stories, which were enveloped in 15 feet of water within 30 minutes.

Nobody Loves Forever

THE STORY: Tom writes that he is at a point of embarkation. Jessica dreads facing him with the news that she wants a separation. Suppose he refuses to release her? David, whom she has been meeting secretly, pooh-poohs her fears.

Whenever she returned from these meetings with David, Jessica felt an odd sense of guilt and disloyalty to Betsy. Why? Didn't she plan to marry David, not only because she loved him, but because David would be a better father than Tom? He could give Betsy this.

What things? The question mocked her. Money? Social position? She might have weakened, even then, in her resolution to leave Tom if she hadn't been so irritated by her mother-in-law and Genevieve. Genevieve came often to consult with Tom's mother about plans for his homecoming. She was helpful, interested.

She asked Jessica, "Aren't you excited?"

Jessica said dryly, "I've lived alone so long it will be queer to have Tom back." Which it would. She dreaded his appearance and started every time the door opened, expecting to see a tall, broad-shouldered man with hair blond like Betsy's and eyes blue-gray like Lucy's.

"Tom may be sent out again," Genevieve suggested.

"Tom has done quite enough for his country," said his mother. "It is time that he took charge of his family now."

Genevieve said innocently, "I suppose Tom will still live here, won't he?"

Mrs. Blake screwed the last cover on a jar of pickles. "I should hope so. It's time someone took the burden off Lucy's shoulders. I declare I don't know what's wrong with her these days."

Jessica surprised an odd gleam in Genevieve's shadowed eyes. Maybe she works too hard," she hinted.

Doris thought the same. "Lucy works like a slave for Hugh Linton," she remarked one day. "Try to stop her," said Jessica, absorbed in her own thoughts and wondering just how to approach Doris on the subject of divorce. Doris had stubborn ideas about loyalty.

"I plan to leave Tom," Jessica said suddenly. There! It was out. "I thought as much, David Gregory?"

Jessica nodded.

"How did you drift into that?" "I didn't drift. Probably fate," Doris said dryly. "Don't hand me that line. Fate has nothing to do with the mess you'll make of your life if you make not one but two mistakes."

"I love David and he loves me." "You love what David represents," said Doris bluntly. "You love the idea of stepping into the kind of life you led until you met Tom Blake."

She shook her Auburn head. "It's no good trying to go back, my girl. You've married one man whom you'd known too little, and now you plan to leave him and marry another one whom you know less. Love-making tricked you once—"

"It isn't tricking me, as you put it, into another. I am prepared to leave, stung by the accusation in Doris' steady eyes. I've considered the whole affair. I've refused to run away. I plan to wait and discuss the whole thing calmly with Tom."

"He'll never let you go."

"He can't keep me."

"He can keep Betsy. Just remember that Tom's a returned serviceman and there will be little sympathy for you when you attempt to leave him for another man and try to separate him from his child. You haven't reckoned with the Blake stubbornness, Jessica."

"If he tries to take Betsy away from me I'll hate him."

Doris shrugged. "Did he listen to your wishes when he left you with his mother and Lucy? Try to oppose Tom and see where it gets you."

"David will find a way," said Jessica confidently.

She hurried back across the street and found Betsy seated on the living-room sofa with her fat legs sticking straight out, her blue eyes bright with interest in her lap lay the picture of her father. At her mother's entrance she looked up. "Daddy!" she said proudly, and lifted the picture and hugged it close.

Mrs. Blake rocked steadily in a

The Doctor Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

When people grow older they begin to face health problems which are different from those which they have when they were young. With increasing years, the tissues in general become more dry.

This process, however, is so gradual that it can scarcely be noticed. The ability to repair injury becomes gradually lessened; wounds heal more slowly; broken bones knit with much greater difficulty. There is a slow decrease in energy, the tissues are less elastic and the skin becomes wrinkled and has a different texture in older years.

The strength and endurance of the muscles and the speed of reaction are also decreased. The special senses become impaired and the vision, hearing, and memory are never as good in old age as in youth. None of these changes, however, need cause great concern. Simple adjustment to them is all that is necessary.

Careful About Food
The digestive system cannot adjust so easily to overloading in later years as it did in youth. Consequently, the older person should be careful to eat foods which are easy to digest.

It is wise to cut down the amount of food consumed, and not to drink too much water, as this places an added burden on the digestive system and the kidneys.

People do not age at exactly the same rate of speed. Ordinarily, it is not until the forties or early fifties that any conscious adjustment to the aging process is necessary. Perhaps it would be well if people, as they reach these years, thought a little more often of the slightly decreased capacity of their functions and organs and

Idle Women

One of the greatest pests in the world is the woman who has nothing in God's world to do but kill time. And, unfortunately, she has to have someone assist her in committing the crime, so she wishes the job off on us, and she does it blithely, with apparently no thought but that we will also have the time of our lives participating in the ghastly rite.

The woman who has nothing to do usually chooses as her favorite hour for making a nuisance of herself and victimizing us, that breathless period in the morning when we are struggling to get the day just when the woman who has all of her own housework to do and who is rushing madly around trying to get her husband and children up and fed and off saved them accordingly.

This does not mean that all of the active joys of life have to be cut out, but merely that one should be sensible about them and engage in those which are best suited to the age and physical condition.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

QUESTION: What are the symptoms of eye strain in a school child?

ANSWER: Symptoms of eye strain may include nervousness, poor work at school, headaches and sometimes complaints noticed in the eyes themselves.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend massaging preparation helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy. It helps keep the skin soft and pliable, thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

When we remonstrate with these idle women about the actual reality they are committing in taking an exceedingly busy woman's time, they very often take the attitude that they are conferring a favor on us by getting us away from our work for an hour or so. But, in reality, they are only thinking of themselves and their own pleasure. Time hangs heavily on their hands and they want to be amused, and they don't care whom they sacrifice to make themselves a holiday.

But there is no excuse for any woman not finding something useful to do, something to occupy her heart and mind and hands, in a world that is crying for help.

Stranahan Is Going After Grand Slam
 New York, June 1 —(AP)—As a record field sought to qualify today for the National Open Golf tournament, one of the foremost questions in the sport was: Can Frank Stranahan do it?

Young Stranahan, recent winner of the British amateur, has announced he's going after the other three big ones—the U. S. and British Opens and the U. S. Amateur. Only the famous Bobby Jones has been able to encompass this "grand slam" in a single year.

The Toledo thumper's big test undoubtedly will be the U. S. Open, to be contested June 10-12 at Los Angeles. As one of the top twenty finishers last year he automatically qualifies.

Used in the field of 1,418 entered the National Open but all except 31 of them will have to fight for 140 spots in sectional qualifying trials. Twenty-six of the trials are scheduled today throughout the country. Eliminations at Los Angeles and Honolulu already have been held.

Exempt from qualifying are defending champion Lew Worsham, the 19 players who finished behind him last year, nine former winners, U. S. Amateur Champion Robert H. (Skeet) Riegel and host professional Willie Hunter.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler
 Copyright, 1947
 By King Features Syndicate.

Washington, June 1 — In a recent case in Washington, a government employee whose daughter had gone over to the Communists as a worker in their news bureau was held up as a tragic example of that wicked personal scandal and humiliation which good men suffer at the hands of hot-eyed patrioters. This sort of thing would deter many fine fellows from entering the service of the republic and a scornful reproach was strongly implied in the renewed expressions of confidence in the poor, suffering parent of an erring child when he was invited to stick it out, nevertheless, for Old Glory.

This wretched victim of the ingratitude of popular government is employed in the Department of Commerce. He seems to have been blameless, but it is a pertinent fact that the same Department of Commerce freely gave the Soviet government the patents that it considered useful for its purposes, at 10 cents a copy, later raised to 25 cents, postpaid. It is the same department in which Henry Wallace, the New York friend, Louis Horch, the New York speculator in silver, gold and foreign money, who was the financial backer or sucker for Nicholas U. (Skeet) Riegel and host professional Willie Hunter.

During Wallace's time as secretary of the Department of Agriculture and later, when Roosevelt gave him a thing called the Board of Economic Warfare with which to amuse himself and his strange friends, Henry provided two jobs for a nudist who held that ladies and gentlemen should go naked at work in shop and office and even in elevators and subways in the rush hours. This one wrote books which were so disgusting in text and pictures that he was pinched for trying to bring them into the United States from Europe in his baggage. If this were the only such creature who could be found in association with Henry or the government under his patronage, that might be called an accident, but he wasn't.

Although he was not questionable on any such nasty grounds as this author of depraved books, Maurice Parmelee by name, Louis Horch certainly did flap around in clouds, for he confessed that he and the other members of the staff in New York thought Horch was a divine personality. There was another who trailed Wallace from agriculture to the Board of Economic Warfare who was an intimate if not a member of the Horch cult but was also a gun on his own hook in his spare time. A gun in the Oriental meaning of the word is a teacher or exalted spirit, but to this bunch of bureaucratic nuts, perverts, Communists and simple fools it meant a pistol of black magic. There were several other queerers whose peculiarities were quickly camouflaged after Wallace got out of the B. E. W. and there was in operation a nudist glade on the outskirts of Washington where a lot of bureaucrats disappeared themselves in such rites as are practiced by the nudists.

Apologists and propagandists for Henry Wallace have insisted that he is a "mystic." Uh-huh, Well, anyway, he certainly selected some strange company by deliberate choice and some of the people that were the kind of people that a New York cop would call by shorter and uglier names. By the way, how many nudists do you know?

Now all the information about the wild people who warmed their way into the government in Washington during Roosevelt's time including many of the most magnificent Communists in the world, was dug up by the Dies Committee, later and more known as the Thompson Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives. The committee passed its tenth anniversary a few days ago and the men who served on it and the investigators, notably Robert Stimpert, the present chief investigator, and J. B. Matthews, who formerly held that job, did great work for the United States. But throughout that time all connected with this committee took from the Roosevelt administration, from Eleanor the Great, from the Communists and hundreds of dirty editorialists an ostensibly reputable American papers a constant campaign of vicious abuse.

Even today this bogging of Americans for doing their duty by day, and without credit to the committee, organizations and individuals are coming over to the committee's side of the question but without giving the information credit for producing the information which convinced them of the Soviet menace and converted them back to 100 per cent American patriotism.

The present Nashville Vols handed the Atlanta Braves their sixth straight loss, 8-2, and Little Rock won a slugging bee at New Orleans, 8-7, in a battle between the two last place clubs.

The Pels and Little Rock waged a seaway battle in the early innings. The Travelers scored two in the fourth to tie the score at 6-6 and added two in the sixth. The Pels got one run back in the ninth but couldn't score. Little Rock had 10 hits, the Pels 13.

Slipping Cards Pushed Lower in Standings
 By CARL LUNDQUIST
 New York, June 1 (UP)—One thing about the St. Louis Cardinals — travel at high speed in both directions.

And like the rare Australian bird who flies backward because he doesn't care where he is going and wants to know where he has been, the Cardinals were going in reverse today at a pace to alarm their followers.

A creaking 31-year-old veteran, Lefty Klem Ruffenberger, who has pitched often, but not too well, when he pitched a near no-hitter, blanketing them with one dinky single, 7 to 0 after the Reds also won the opener, 4 to 3. The double dump was the second in as many days for the Cardinals and their fifth defeat in a row.

Ruffenberger's pitching was magnificent. He had the crowd tense in expectation of a no-hitter until Nippy Jones delivered the spoiler, a single in the eighth. In the first inning he walked Stan Musial and Whitey Kurowski and no other Cardinal reached base.

He gave up one other walk, to Musial, in the ninth as the Cardinals tumbled out of first place. The tall near-bald veteran from York, Pa., who the chief claim to fame previously had been that he was the winning pitcher for the National League in the 1944 All-Star game, was backed with homers by Ted Kluszewski and Augie Galan which accounted for five runs. In the seventh, Eddie Hank Sauer's 13th homer, which put him into a tie with Ken Keltner of Cleveland for the major league lead, broke a 3-1 tie and gave Howie Fox a 5-hit win.

The Giants took over first place with a 10 to 1 afternoon victory at Brooklyn after a 4 to 3 defeat to Ralph Branca in the morning contest.

In the afternoon, Johnny Mize got two homers and a single to drive in four runs and Sid Gordon hit a homer, double, and two singles in the 13th attack.

The Phils made 12 hits in a 6 to 3 victory at Boston as Ken Heintzelman won his third game, a seven-inning shutout. The Braves hit job, but the Braves retaliated by winning the second game 10 to 4. There were 13 Boston hits, three by Jim Russell to make it easy for Warren Spahn to win his fourth game.

The Pirates and Cubs divided at Chicago. Elmer Riddle winning his eighth game for Pittsburgh, 4 to 2, on seven hits after Chicago took the opener, 4 to 3, on the hitting of Andy Pafko.

The Yankees sparked by Booby Brown, who made seven straight hits and was on base nine times in a row, topped the Senators 10 to 0 and 5 to 4, at New York. Frank (Spec) Shea held Washington to two hits in the opener for his third victory and second shutout.

The Athletics retained first place by splitting with the Red Sox at Philadelphia, winning 2 to 1 after losing 7 to 0 on Joe Dobson's four-hitter for his fifth victory. Ted Williams' homer, and Vern Stephens' three singles gave Boston the hitting help he needed.

Cleveland slugged out an 8 to 0 decision over the visiting Browns. Lou Boudreau hit a grand slam homer and Jim Hegan also hit for the distance but Cliff Fanning cooled the tribal bats with a four-hit 0 to 0 pitching job in the nightcap.

The Tigers trimmed Chicago, 4 to 3 as Dizzy Trout was helped to his fifth victory via Eddie Mayo's double-run double, but the White Sox won the second game, 6 to 3, on 15 hits, four by Tony Lupien.

Legion Team to Play Nashville Wednesday
 Hope's American Legion Junior baseball team will journey to Nashville Wednesday for a game with the Howard County nine at 3:30 p.m. This is the first of a series of games which the local team will play throughout the season.

Robert's toured the track with an average of 117,000 miles per hour, more than two and one half miles under Rose's winning speed. Holland, running mate of Rose, averaged 119,147, Nalon 118,034, and Horn 117,84.

Rose's victory was a near duplicate of his 1947 triumph. From virtually the 250 mile mark on, it was all his show.

He drove a consistent race, heavy on the throttle, and never was worse than fourth. As the front-runners dropped out for gas and tires, Rose gradually moved up. Finally he took over first place at about 260 miles, and he never was headed.

Rose picked up $8,000 extra in lap prize money, while Horn was in front nearly as much, winning $7,500. Nalon won $900, and Mays, who finished out of the money, had the rest of the $20,000.

Three American Women in British Golf Finals
 St. Anne's-On-The-Sea, England, June 1 — (AP)—Louise Suggs, present U. S. golf queen, Dorothy Kieley of Los Angeles and Dorothy Kirby, from Miss Suggs' hometown of Atlanta, all gained the final round, of the British women's amateur golf tournament today.

The day's play cut exactly in half the U. S. forces which started the third round this morning.

Only casually of the afternoon's fourth round was Mrs. Glenna Collett Vase of Philadelphia six-time U. S. champion, who lost to Mrs. Helen Hohn of Scotland, 5 and 3. Miss Suggs defeated Mrs. G.E.C. Rudgard of Scotland, 3 and 2; Miss Kirby downed Peggy Smeeton of England, 6 and 5; and Miss Kieley staged a rousing comeback to beat Mrs. Gabriel Style of England, 1 up in 18 holes.

Last year Mauri, a 42-year-old South Bend, Ind., automotive engineer who drives only one race a year, picked up $4,000 extra for his victory. Today his tab may be equally increased, or it might be more.

More than 150,000 people jammed the speedway grounds to see Rose win just as he had done last year. Before that, Rose shared first place honors in 1941 with Floyd Davis, whose car he took over during the race.

Rose and the three drivers who finished next to him, Bill Holland, Reading, Pa., third-place Duke Nalon of Chicago, and fourth-place Ted Horn — all broke the previous record for the 500 miles, set in 1939 by Bill Roberts.

Roberts toured the track with an average of 117,000 miles per hour, more than two and one half miles under Rose's winning speed. Holland, running mate of Rose, averaged 119,147, Nalon 118,034, and Horn 117,84.

Slipping Cards Pushed Lower in Standings
 By CARL LUNDQUIST
 New York, June 1 (UP)—One thing about the St. Louis Cardinals — travel at high speed in both directions.

And like the rare Australian bird who flies backward because he doesn't care where he is going and wants to know where he has been, the Cardinals were going in reverse today at a pace to alarm their followers.

A creaking 31-year-old veteran, Lefty Klem Ruffenberger, who has pitched often, but not too well, when he pitched a near no-hitter, blanketing them with one dinky single, 7 to 0 after the Reds also won the opener, 4 to 3. The double dump was the second in as many days for the Cardinals and their fifth defeat in a row.

Ruffenberger's pitching was magnificent. He had the crowd tense in expectation of a no-hitter until Nippy Jones delivered the spoiler, a single in the eighth. In the first inning he walked Stan Musial and Whitey Kurowski and no other Cardinal reached base.

He gave up one other walk, to Musial, in the ninth as the Cardinals tumbled out of first place. The tall near-bald veteran from York, Pa., who the chief claim to fame previously had been that he was the winning pitcher for the National League in the 1944 All-Star game, was backed with homers by Ted Kluszewski and Augie Galan which accounted for five runs. In the seventh, Eddie Hank Sauer's 13th homer, which put him into a tie with Ken Keltner of Cleveland for the major league lead, broke a 3-1 tie and gave Howie Fox a 5-hit win.

The Giants took over first place with a 10 to 1 afternoon victory at Brooklyn after a 4 to 3 defeat to Ralph Branca in the morning contest.

In the afternoon, Johnny Mize got two homers and a single to drive in four runs and Sid Gordon hit a homer, double, and two singles in the 13th attack.

The Phils made 12 hits in a 6 to 3 victory at Boston as Ken Heintzelman won his third game, a seven-inning shutout. The Braves hit job, but the Braves retaliated by winning the second game 10 to 4. There were 13 Boston hits, three by Jim Russell to make it easy for Warren Spahn to win his fourth game.

The Pirates and Cubs divided at Chicago. Elmer Riddle winning his eighth game for Pittsburgh, 4 to 2, on seven hits after Chicago took the opener, 4 to 3, on the hitting of Andy Pafko.

The Yankees sparked by Booby Brown, who made seven straight hits and was on base nine times in a row, topped the Senators 10 to 0 and 5 to 4, at New York. Frank (Spec) Shea held Washington to two hits in the opener for his third victory and second shutout.

The Athletics retained first place by splitting with the Red Sox at Philadelphia, winning 2 to 1 after losing 7 to 0 on Joe Dobson's four-hitter for his fifth victory. Ted Williams' homer,

Defeat of Smuts in South Africa Is Serious Blow to British Government

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The fall of a heroic figure from his political pedestal always is a matter of regret, and so it is that the world at large, irrespective of ideological beliefs or international leanings, shocked at the disaster which has overtaken the old Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts.

A measure of his stature may be seen in the fact that the average student of international affairs probably thought of the personal misfortune first, and afterward of its significance to the British commonwealth and empire. Now that is a remarkable reversal in the order of thinking, for the cyclonic political change wrought by the South African elections has a grave bearing on the solidarity of the commonwealth.

Prime Minister Smuts' United party, which stands for imperial unity, was swept from power in last week's voting by the Nationalist-Afrikaner coalition which stands for separation from Great Britain. Not only that, but the 70-year-old Smuts himself was defeated for reelection to Parliament. Dr. Danie Francois Malan, leader of the victorious coalition was called upon to form a new government.

The result of the election naturally is a terrific shock to England. Its significance is well described in the comment of two London dailies. Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard said: "This is a grave hour for the empire." The Daily Mail declared the Nationalists would "like to sever the British connection and set up a free republic," weakening empire defenses.

This mention of defense lines has reference to the fact that since the end of the war Britain has undertaken a revamping and extension of her defenses. Instead of placing reliance on domination of the Middle East, she has been in process of supplementing these defenses with others in East, West and South Africa.

An isolationist union of South Africa presumably would mean disruption of this military program. Worse yet, from England's standpoint, it might mean the loss of a rich and important unit of the British commonwealth of nations. The political and economic implications would be enormous.

However, these are possibilities and not accomplished facts. So let's not jump to conclusions regarding the extent of the threat to the British commonwealth. It is plenty, in any event.

Zoned Roads

The roads of the federal highway system are chosen in such a way that if a zone 10 miles wide were marked off on each side of them, these zones would include the homes of 90 per cent of the population, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

City Pays Tribute to Youngster

Westbrook, Me., May 31 (UP)—Nine-year-old David Gagnon watched with wonder today as this city staged a special Memorial Day parade in his honor.

The youngster, slowly winning a battle for life after 100 surgical operations, lay smiling in his bed near an upstairs window in his home while hundreds of uniformed marchers paraded by the roll of drums, the crash of cymbals and the music of a brass band.

David was severely burned two years ago when his clothes caught fire while he attempted to stomp out a brush fire. Even today his body must be held in a special tent so none of his tender skin touches the sheets of his bed.

It was a year ago—at the height of his fight to live—that the boy first said he would love to see a parade. It was then just a dream said without hope of fulfillment. But today Mayor Ernest Poirer ordered two Memorial Day parades: One at noon to pay tribute to the war dead and one in the morning for David.

"It just doesn't seem real," the boy repeated several times as the ranks passed by in review. He watched the men and Girl Scout troop, the veterans' organizations, the platoon of police and the smartly ranked infantry company marching behind a 100 piece brass band.

"Well, it is real and you're in command here," Mayor Poirer told him. "We've installed that loud speaker system so you can tell

Helena Paper Makes Bid for Race Track

Helena, May 31—(UP)—The Helena Ark. World made a bid for a proposed Eastern Arkansas horse race track yesterday as West Memphis citizens debated the merits of such an enterprise in their midst.

In a front page editorial the World said that Helena should invite backers of a $2,000,000 racing plant to "set up house" in Phillips county.

Pointing out that the city is only 65 miles south of Memphis, the paper said that the "people of Helena, having once sponsored a race track many years ago, would welcome the state controlled track by a responsible syndicate."

Meanwhile, the Times, Tenn., Commercial Appeal went on record as being wholeheartedly opposed to setting up a track across the river in Crittenden County.

A hearing will be held in Little Rock on June 1 for the purpose of considering bids for a franchise. One bid was received by the Arkansas Racing Commission last week.

The Memphis newspaper, after conducting a survey in West Memphis, said that the citizens were widely split on the question of whether the track was a desirable addition to the town.

Associate of Hitler Dies in England

Oban, Scotland, May 21—(UP)—Unity House, a highborn Englishwoman whose mysterious association with Adolf Hitler was the gossip of the 1930's, died Saturday night in a hospital here on the Northwestern Scottish coast. She was 39.

Official reports said she died from meningitis of the brain resulting from bullet wounds which caused her hurried departure from Munich on Christmas Day, 1939. At that time she was reported to have shot herself because of a falling out with Hitler.

Born the Hon. Unity Valkyrie Freeman-Mitford, fourth daughter of Lord Redesdale, she also was the sister-in-law of Britain's leading fascist, Sir Oswald Mosley. Miss Mitford was taken suddenly ill Friday and rushed from her father's home on the Isle of Inchekeith by her mother, Lady Redesdale, in a wild motor launch trip through stormy seas to the hospital here.

Lord Redesdale hurried from his country seat at High Wycombe, Buckinghamshire, to be at her bedside when she died. In her later life she was a lonely figure who spent most of her time walking the windswept moors with her spaniel dogs.

As a girl art student in Germany in the 1930's, she was described by both Hitler and Hermann Goerring as a "perfect type of Aryan womanhood." Lord Redesdale found it necessary to deny reports in 1938 that his daughter might marry Hitler.

Miss Mitford was a high spirited young art student when she left Scotland in 1934 to study in Munich. Her romance began at a cafe in Munich that same year when Hitler invited her to have tea with him. The full story of events from that date probably never will be known.

Miss Mitford went to her grave without confiding fully in anyone, not even her family. In August, 1938, she fell ill with pleurisy at Bayreuth. Hitler telephoned over daily, sent his personal physician to attend her and filled her room daily with flowers.

A year later there was an apparent quarrel between them. She was said to have tried to poison herself. On Christmas Eve, 1939, her family was surprised by a message from Munich claiming she had shot herself.

She arrived home a short time later, reportedly suffering from a bullet wound in the head. This her death.

Villagers showed no open hostility to her after her sudden return during the war years. Outside of an occasional appearance at the village of Oban on the island of Mull, where she engaged halfheartedly in Highland dancing, she dropped out of society.

Known as a fashionable dresser before the war, she was seen always in tweeds with her blonde hair falling loosely about her bent shoulders.

Homecoming June 6 at Rosston Baptist Church

Rosston Baptist Church will have its annual homecoming services Sunday, June 6, starting at 10 a.m. with the Rev. Charles B. Luck, former pastor, preaching at 11 a.m. Singing services will feature the afternoon program, W. H. Munn, member of the homecoming committee announced. The public is invited.

Four hundred million library books were circulated in the United States in 1939.

them what to do. Go ahead, try it."

The youngster blinked. He cleared his throat and looked apprehensively at the microphone. Finally, he got up the courage.

"Halt," he said. The parade halted. The National Guard company was directly in front of his house. He gazed in awe at the stiff ranks, the dressed rifles.

The mayor whispered in his ear. "Order arms," David yelled. This time his voice was louder. The rifles snapped down with a one-two-three-four smack.

"Left face," he commanded. The soldiers faced him. They stood at attention.

Then he faced them right, told them to shoulder their arms and resume the parade.

The sky was cloudy. But as the boy lay there seeing his dream in real life, the sun broke through and he turned to face the mayor. For one of the very few times since his long invalidism began, he was weeping.

"Look like it's going to be a pretty day," he said.
